

ARE YOUR ASSETS AT RISK?

You should consider reviewing your risk of losing your assets if:

- You have started or are considering starting a company or been appointed as a director of a company.
- You have started to conduct a business as a sole trader or partner or are thinking of doing so.
- You have entered into one or more personal guarantees (which may relate to significant assets)
- You have substantial personal or business credit facilities (e.g. trade accounts)
- You operate a high risk business.
- You own substantial assets that you believe may be at risk.
